Purpose and legal basis of the processing of personal data

The purpose of the processing of personal data is

- Organising assistance to a client of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking who does not have a municipality of residence in Finland as referred to in the Municipality of Residence Act.
- Providing advice and guidance to a client of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking.
- Making the decision on accepting a person into the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking and identifying them as a victim of human trafficking.
- Making the decision on removing a person from the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking.
- Issuing, extending or discontinuing the reflection period intended for a victim of human trafficking.
- Cooperation with the wellbeing services county, the City of Helsinki or the HUS Group in assisting a person who is a client of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking and has a municipality of residence in Finland as referred to in the Municipality of Residence Act.
- Cooperation with the reception centre in assisting a person who is a client of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking and is seeking international protection or receiving temporary protection.
- Cooperation with the police for the purpose of protecting a person who is client of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking if the person is subject to a security threat.
- The management, planning, monitoring and supervision of the practical operations of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking carried out by the Finnish Immigration Service.

Personal data is also processed

- in connection with organising a possible voluntary return. Your personal data will be processed in connection with your return by the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking, the reception centre, the police, the Finnish Border Guard and the organisation in charge of the practical arrangements of your return.
- if the controller observes or is notified of any remarks that, given the circumstances or a person's behaviour, can reasonably be thought to fall within the controller's competence to oversee the occupational safety of those in his or her employ or general order and safety. The personal data recorded includes the client numbers (the client number in the Immigration Case Management System) of the clients involved in a danger, disturbance or threat situation, on the basis of which the person can be identified, and a description of the danger, disturbance or threat situation.

The processing of personal data is based on compliance with legal obligation of the controller under Article 6 (1) (c) of the General Data Protection Regulation. A legal obligation of the controller is based on the following Acts:

- Act on the Processing of Personal Data in the Field of Immigration Administration (615/2020)
- Act on the Reception of Persons Applying for International Protection and on the Identification of and Assistance to Victims of Trafficking in Human Beings (746/2011)

 - Counsel or representative on authorisation by the client within the remit required for the performance of their duties

Specifying individual recipients of the personal data is not possible owing to the extent of the public administration field.

Transfer of personal data outside the EU/EEA

The personal data of the data subject will not be transferred outside the EU/EEA except in a situation where the data subject is applying for assisted voluntary return, in which case the necessary personal data of the data subject may be transferred to a service provider in the home country for the purpose of paying the assistance for voluntary return or if the data subject consents to the transfer of their personal data for the purpose of organising a safe return.

Retention period of personal data

The personal data of the data subject will be erased when the personal data are no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which they are collected and no later than five years after the last entry concerning the data subject. The erased data will be archived in its entirety for permanent storage in electronic format only, as provided in the decision of the National Archives Service.

Right of access to personal data

The data subject has the right upon request to receive stored and processed personal data concerning him or her or a confirmation that personal data concerning him or her is not being processed.

The information request is sent in person to the controller as follows:

- by sending the information request by mail to the postal address of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking
- or by sending the information request by e-mail to ihmiskauppa.auttamisjarjestelma@migri.fi
- or by conducting business with a staff member of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking in person

The right of access may be denied under exceptional circumstances only. If the controller refuses to provide access to the data, a written certificate to this effect shall be issued. The certificate shall also mention the reasons for the refusal. A failure by the controller to give a written response to the data subject within three months of the request is deemed equivalent to a refusal to provide access to the data. In this event, the data subject may bring the matter to the attention of the Data Protection Ombudsman.

The controller may charge a reasonable fee for the provision of access to the data if less than one year has passed since the previous instance of exercising the right of access.

Right to rectify or supplement personal data

The data subject has the right to request the controller to rectify, erase or supplement personal data contained in the register if it is erroneous, unnecessary, incomplete or obsolete as regards the purpose of the processing. In this event, the data subject will be asked to specify what information is incorrect and how and why it should be changed, or to specify what information should be added and in what way.

The request to rectify, erase or supplement personal data is sent in person to the controller as follows:

- by sending the information request by mail to the postal address of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking
- or by sending the information request by e-mail to ihmiskauppa.auttamisjarjestelma@migri.fi
- or by conducting business with a staff member of the Assistance system for victims of human trafficking in person

Report on the processing of personal data and the right to file a complaint with a supervisory authority

If you wish to report a problem concerning the processing of your personal data, please first contact the representative/data protection officer (contact details above) of the controller. Data subjects have the right to complain about the processing of their personal data to the supervisory authority. In Finland, the Data Protection Ombudsman functions as the supervisory authority. The website of the Office of the Data Protection Ombudsman is at www.tietosuoja.fi.
